Dr. Kat's List: Five Colleges for Future Leaders

Compiled by Katherine Cohen, Ph.D., CEO & Founder and the team of counselors at IvyWise and Apply

The election results are in and whether or not you prefer a candidate to Carter or Reagan, Dr. Kat's Ask Dr. Kat

10 most popular majors in the US

If being able to affect policy and international affairs are goals of yours, Dr. Kat and the Ivywise counselo

Claremont McKenna College
Claremont, CA
Originally founded as Claremont Men's College in 1946, this private college changed its name to Clarem

As government majors, students have access to the wide range of centers on campus. However, look no

As a government major you may start your concentration in Professor Andrew Busch's Villains, and Clothes yo

The American Presidency with Professor Andrew Busch, Villains, and Clothes yo

Enrich your learning experience by joining one of the hundreds of student organizations on campus. Join

Harvard University
Cambridge, MA
Eight U.S. Presidents, including Presidents Barack Obama, Bill Clinton and Ronald Reagan

Mexico: Problems and Prospects for Development, Democracy and Economic Ch

Looking for something outside the classroom? Join Harvard's Model Congress (HMC), the nation's oldes

Princeton University
Princeton, NJ
Princeton's concentration in public and international affairs through the Woodrow Wilson School (WWS)

U.S. Nuclear Weapon Policies in the 21st Century

Perhaps one of the most distinctive aspects of campus life at Princeton is the eating clubs. There are 10

Georgetown University
Washington, D.C.
Georgetown sits on the doorstep of the nation's capital. As a student at this private university, you can le

Georgetown prides itself on academically inspiring its community; this is illustrated by the school's Amer

As a Georgetown student, you can get involved in On the Docket, the student Supreme Court society at

The College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, VA
This public college in his [illegible] — thinl

Apply to the Sharpe Leadership Program to work with other students on developing your leadership, pro

Whether you aspire to a [illegible]

While you're still in high school, try to get involved in your school's student government or explore option

Copyright IvyWise, LLC ©2010